

Business Cards.

Office of the Late Dr. Seney.
Office Hours—10 A. M., to 12 M.; 2 o'c P. M.; 7 to 8.30 P. M. Night calls answered at the office.
Telephone Connection.

Oct 30 12

DR. A. C. GIBSON,

Attends Night Calls at his Office.

House called by telephone

NO. 43 STATE ST.
sept13
CHAS. S. PEARL,
Real Estate Broker, Insurance Agent

AUCTIONEER.
Office—No. 8 Kenduskeag Block.
JOHN S. KIMBALL & SON,
AUCTIONEERS.
General Ins. and Real Estate Agency

Exchange Block, Cor. Exchange and State Sts.
Loans and Mortgages Negotiated.
Proofs made for Life, Fire and Accident Insurance policies.
July 28 1yr

PORTRAIT ARTISTS.

If you have Pictures you wish copied call or write to

J. F. GERRITY & CO.
THE PORTRAIT ARTISTS.
 They have some of the best artists in New Eng-and and guarantee all their work. Studio Rooms
 11 and 12 Kenduskeag Block. July 30

HARPER'S
BAZAR PATTERNS

—FOR SALE AT—
C. L. DAKIN'S,
72 MAIN STREET.
Monthly fashion sheet sent free to any address.
Subscriptions received for Harper's Bazar, weekly and monthly, "Ladies' Toilet," a monthly fashion paper, 50 cents a year with pattern coupon attached.
Room Papers,

Borders and Decorations, Curtains and Fixtures. Also
Spring Goods of Every Description.
Japanese Kites. Marbles. Jumps
Ropes, Rolling Hoops, Rubber and Base Balls,

Bats, &c.
J. D. CLYNN,
NO. 8 STATE STREET
march 22
LOOK

— IN TO —
LOMBARD & COULD'S
HARNESS AND TRUNK STORE,
 West End Kenduskeag Bridge and you will see the largest and most select stock of
Horse Clothing and Robe

of every description that ever was shown in B gor, which they are SELLING VERY CHEAP
aug31
Early English
OAT-MEAL.

—AND—
HONEY SOAP

I have a small lot of very choice old Soap above The best possible for

The Prevention and Cure of Roughened Skin.

If you try it, you will wish for more.

N. S. HARLOW

4 Smith Block.
march 5
To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:
The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Elizabeth M. Walker, late of Corlinth, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased, are not sufficient to pay her just de-

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor grant him power to sell by license at public or private sale, and convey the whole of said land, including described real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein) as the residue would be greatly depreciated by sale of any portion, viz.:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Corinth aforesaid, containing one-half of lot No. 61 in the East Division of said Corinth, and which is the south-east corner of said lot, according to a survey and plan of

East Division, made by Andrew Strong in A 1822, containing 47½ acres, more or less, to said said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of ministration.

Said real estate is the same described in a recorded in the Registry of Deeds of said County
Vol. 523, page 406.

JOHN FARRAR

Mch. 29th, 1837.

STATE OF MAINE.

Penobscot ss. Court of Probate, March T

Upon the foregoing petition. Ordered, that petitioner give public notice to all persons affected by causing a copy of the petition, and of the reasons thereon, to be published three weeks successively in the Bangor Daily Whig and Couriers newspaper published in Bangor, in said County, that they may appear at a Court of Probate in said County, to be held at the Probate Office in Bangor, on the last Tuesday in April next, at the hour of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should be granted.

should not be granted.
JAMES H. BURGESS, Judge.
Attest: AMBROSE C. FLINT, Register.
A true copy of the petition and order thereon
Attest: AMBROSE C. FLINT, Register.
appt

'Execatrix' Notice.
The subscriber hereby gives public notice concerned, that she has been duly appointed has taken upon herself the trust of an Execof the Last Will and Testament of

WILLIAM B. HAYFORD, late of Bangor, in the County of Penobscot, deceased, a law directs. She therefore requests all persons who are indebted to the estate of deceased, to make immediate payment, and who have any demands thereon, to present same for settlement to her.

LAURA HAYFORD, Executrix

April 8, 1887. 3w apr

In Stock.

500 Boxes Happy Thought, Old Honesty,
Weed, Cream Cud, French Mary, Lookout,
His's Fine Natural Leaf and Cavendish Tob acco offered at bottom wholesale prices.

W. B. GOULD & CO., - - 2 HARLO
nch St

PENNYROYAL PILLS

"CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH"
The Original and Only Genuine
Safe and Sure Reliable Saver of worthless Treasures Indispensable to LADIES. Ask your Druggist or Chemist for "Chichester's English" and take no other, or look (marked) to see for particular in letter by reference to NAME PAPER, Madison Square, Philadelphia.
It Druggists, N. E. State Trade supplied by Geo.
Seedwin & Co., Boston, Mass.
oct26 TuThSaWly

HENRY C. JEFFERDS, M.D.
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
Has removed to
KENDUSKEAG BLOCK
ROOM 3.
Office hours—10 to 12 and 5 to 4.
Sept 13

Star and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.
C. A. BOUTELLE, Editor.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed to "Editor of Star and Courier."

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1887.

In accordance with the time-honored custom the Governor has set this day apart as a season of meditation and prayer. The various churches will hold the regular services in commemoration of the day and should be fully attended.

Here most interesting the Philadelphia to an expression of his views in favor of breaking down all barriers of the law. Most is either a lunatic or a fool and should be confined as such. When a man tells a public audience that it is no crime to kill a policeman it is high time to be suppressed.

It is a somewhat singular fact that the competitive examination for the cadetship at the Naval Academy, although widely advertised by Congressman Boutelle throughout this district when the people are largely interested in maritime matters, only brought forward two candidates last year and but one this year.

Including county officials, contractors and parties who have had dealings with Cook county, Illinois, there are now fifty-one persons under indictment. Against these 233 true bills have been found, embracing the charges of conspiracy, bribery and subornation of perjury. The bail bonds furnished foot up a total of $467,000.

With the Inter-State Commerce law only a little more than a month old there is already talk in Washington of a "general attack" upon it on the ground that it is an error. It would have been well to have examined its defects more thoroughly before rushing it through Congress, as such a course might have saved the people much annoyance.

Right on top of the Providence Journal's claim that the defeat of the Republican ticket in Rhode Island was necessary as a measure of reform, comes the declaration of the correspondent of the New York Sun that "the liquor interest was the most potent influence in overthrowing the Republicans." We trust that the Journal of Ensigns the distinction thus earned as the organ of the "liquor interests."

The New York Times persists that Massachusetts is a doubtful State. The Times is very poor authority on political matters. It now positively declares that President Cleveland is a great and good man, but a short time ago it denounced him as a low priced reformer and political trickster. The Times should say all of Yale's famous field athletes of late years have sought his advice and he has trained many of them. His eldest son, William, is Professor of Athletics at Cornell University. Lester C. occupies the same position at St. Paul's School and Frank is in charge of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Dole was formerly in charge of the gymnasium at Bowdoin and will be remembered by many graduates of that institution.

A man recently shot a negro in Edgefield county, South Carolina, and on his unsubstantiated claim that the shooting was done in self-defense the corner's jury returned the remarkable verdict that the negro came to his death from a wound inflicted by some one unknown. The reason assigned for this decision is even more remarkable than the verdict itself, namely, the jury was unwilling to put the county to the expense of a trial when an acquittal was certain. Thus it will be seen the murder of a negro is not considered of sufficient importance to warrant a trial in the "new South" of which so much is now being said. The despatch further asserts that the jury was composed of the most intelligent citizens of the county.

William C. Dole, the father of three professors of athletics in leading institutions and himself a noted athletic trainer, died at New Haven, Monday, aged sixty-five. He is well known by every Yale graduate of recent years. He commenced teaching boxing to the Yale men about fifteen years ago and made the manly art, peculiar in the college. He trained Brooks, the famous Yale runner, who broke the world's one-mile record. Almost all of Yale's famous field athletes of late years have sought his advice and he has trained many of them. His eldest son, William, is Professor of Athletics at Cornell University. Lester C. occupies the same position at St. Paul's School and Frank is in charge of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Dole was formerly in charge of the gymnasium at Bowdoin and will be remembered by many graduates of that institution.

The Boston Globe attempts to be facetious over the drift of public sentiment in favor of Mr. Blaine and says it reads like the bulletin of 1841 when it was claimed that the Republican candidate was sure to be re-elected. Mr. Cleveland by the merest accident, admitted to be such by the leading Democratic organ in the country, succeeded in carrying the State of New York by the enormous plurality of 1,100 votes while Mr. Blaine had a large majority of the total popular vote of the Northern States. Furthermore, Mr. Cleveland was elected as a reformer, but two years in office has so completely opened the eyes of the people to that fraud that even George William Curtis predicts that he cannot be re-elected, having a divided party behind him, while at the same time he mournfully admits that Mr. Blaine is the most popular man in his party today. There is mighty little in the situation to cause our Boston contemporary any great amount of comfort, hence its forced mirth to keep its courage up.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

It sounds well to hear the Hartford Post say that the Republicans in Connecticut have been busy for months past quietly organizing and getting into shape for the campaign of 1888.

We understand that the probabilities are that Gov. Bodwell will send the name of S. W. Matthews, Esq., to the Council at their next session for the position of Commissioner of Labor. As we have stated before Mr. Matthews is excellently adapted for the duties of the office and we are satisfied that his appointment will be warmly approved by both the employers and the working men of the State.

A Democratic Organ Roasted.

(Lowell Courier.)
The one thing prescribed by the sages was organization and party work, not casual fastly consummated the condition of demoralization and dry rot into which the Republican party in this State has been brought. When the old and dreamed dreams, and the young men saw visions, but they were dreams of the past, and the visions were but visions of "organization." Truly, the earnest men of Massachusetts demand more vitality and aspiration of purpose than was shown by such empty, self-vaunting and wire-pulling—Boston Herald.

The above was about what was to be expected of an organ like the reorganized Post, which set out with a high independent standard, and has grown into an aggravated condition of hide-bound partisanship, basing the worst that the worst elements of the Democracy can do (and that is bad enough, the Lord knows), and "going the entire porker" in everything labeled Democratic. Such criticism will be taken for what it is worth. The assumption that the Republican party has no principles, and takes no interest of public service, is, of course, mere partisan fabrication. The implication that the Democratic party possesses what the Republican party is falsely accused of lacking, is even more false.

An organization that has furnished opinions and doctrines for the conduct of the government for a quarter of a century—and such a quarter of a century—cannot safely be taunted with lack of ideas; especially, when as Mr. Dole so cleverly showed, so many of these ideas and principles have been adopted to continue to force under a Democratic administration. If there are, as the Post says, "dreams of the past," they are dreams of fundamental and vital principles on which even the Democracy is forced to stand ground.

As to public service we may well challenge comparison between the two parties and their candidates. It is too absurd for supposition that anybody ever suggested John F. Andrew as the Democratic candidate for Governor because of any candor of public service, or of peculiar ability or fitness. But for the fact that his name is Andrew, and that he apostatized, no certainly would never have been the light of any body's candidate for Governor. The Republicans have laughed at the idea of nominating him themselves, had he remained in the party, simply because he occupied a position of prominence in public service which gave him any credentials for such an honor.

The comparison of Cleveland with Blaine, or Hancock with Garfield, is equally barren of advantage to the Democracy. Cleveland was when mainly on trust, and Hancock had even less public service to fall back on, though a gallant soldier. And when we come to the men whom the Democratic party selected as candidates for Congressmen, so far as experience goes, the entire list, with a single exception, shows an overwhelming Republican advantage.

As for the issues of 1888, the Post cannot make them or mar them. Neither can a Democratic or a Republican dinner table originate them. The Democracy may try to relegate "equal rights" to the domain of ancient history, but they are a living issue which will never be considered settled until it is settled right. Coupling Copiah with Shaw's rebellion may seem very witty in a Post editorial, but the name being changed, Copiah is a factor of today's politics. The Democratic party has been forced to accept a good deal of Republican doctrine; in the end it will be forced to accept its equal rights principles. The tariff is a more elastic issue. It is not sentimental, in any degree, but is largely governed by a real or supposed self-interest. It is an issue that is clearly joined between the parties, and the very last thing the Democracy ought to do is to accuse the Republican party of any vagueness or laxness upon it. They will find out, before they get through, that it will not answer, as heretofore, to attempt to stave off discussion with platitudes on "revenue reform." The Democratic Administration proposes to capture Massachusetts if it can. If anything were ever a personal matter, it is the plan to make Massachusetts endorse Grover Cleveland. If any organization was ever defeated with dry rot, it is the pliable agreement which is now consolidated for this purpose. If ever there was a sham, whose whole record is one of recanting to avoid principle and whose policy is only a piece of subterfuge, it is the present Administration.

The Boston Globe attempts to be facetious over the drift of public sentiment in favor of Mr. Blaine and says it reads like the bulletin of 1841 when it was claimed that the Republican candidate was sure to be re-elected. Mr. Cleveland by the merest accident, admitted to be such by the leading Democratic organ in the country, succeeded in carrying the State of New York by the enormous plurality of 1,100 votes while Mr. Blaine had a large majority of the total popular vote of the Northern States. Furthermore, Mr. Cleveland was elected as a reformer, but two years in office has so completely opened the eyes of the people to that fraud that even George William Curtis predicts that he cannot be re-elected, having a divided party behind him, while at the same time he mournfully admits that Mr. Blaine is the most popular man in his party today. There is mighty little in the situation to cause our Boston contemporary any great amount of comfort, hence its forced mirth to keep its courage up.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

The Boston Herald thinks the appointment of the young son of Peter B. Woodcock as Judge of the Second District, confirms its statement that the relations of the President and Secretary of War are strained. Mr. Woodcock not having been consulted in the selection of young Butler. The Herald further says that the "President is not very well pleased with the Collector whom Mr. Endicott selected. Mr. Saltonstall's public rejoicings over the fact that the civil service rules "relieved him of the disagreeable necessity of appointing Democratic to subordinate places did not cause an immense amount of satisfaction at the White House." It strikes us that it is rather a give away on the "reform" policy of the President when he feels so much displeased at the alleged "rejoicing" of one of his appointees at the fact that the civil service law relieves him of the pressure that might otherwise be brought to bear by party workers. When Mr. Saltonstall was appointed it was claimed as a great victory for Cleveland and reform, but now it appears from this organ of the Administration that the President regrets his choice because the Collector has not devoted his time exclusively to getting Democratic into office.

A TRUE TALE.

It was near midnight. The pleasure seekers were just emerging from the Opera House, the last loiterer had turned his face homeward, the policeman had just shaken himself preparatory to another three hours' nap, when Clang! Clang! Clang! went the deep-toned bell on the Harlow street engine house, and a moment later those in the various steeples were counting out the number of the box from whence came the fire alarm. Soon the excited steeds drawing the apparatus came in their mad flight to the scene of the conflagration, ladders were erected, hose carried to the upper story, from whence issued volumes of smoke, and in a short time powerful streams of water were being forced into the building.

THIS WAS ABOUT A MONTH AGO.

I was James Tobin's Clothing House on Fire!

Soon the fire was extinguished and the next day, when an examination was held, it was found that the $18,000 stock of cloth, clothing and furnishing goods had been thoroughly wet, but that no other damage had been done. After the insurance people had adjusted the loss, the goods were arranged for sale, low prices put upon each article, and arrangements made for a thorough inspection. When the doors were thrown open, it rushed the large and expectant crowd, all of whom got great bargains in spring and summer goods. These, going away well pleased, sent others who were also made glad by getting "munch for little," and the result is that business is immense. The stock and store are both large and there is ample opportunity to get in and look things over.

The Time to Do This is Now!

REMEMBER THE PLACE!

JAMES TOBIN,

45 West Market Square.

BANGOR, MAINE.

Norombega Hall, Bangor.

Saturday Afternoon and Evening, April 23d.

2 Grand Performances.

A. N. STOVER'S AUTHORIZED MAMMOTH

Force Tom's Cabin Co.,

The Strongest and Greatest Combination in the Country.

Headed by the WILLIAMS SISTERS, EVA and ALICE, aged

Respectively 6 and 11 Years.

MISS EVA, as TOBY, is acknowledged to be the best representative of the character of Mrs. Stover's "the child that never was born." Not to see the Child Artist is to miss the treat of a lifetime.

MISS ALICE, as EVA, THE CHILD ANGEL, the youngest, brightest and sunniest Child Actress on the stage. Never has this beautiful character been better represented than by our little talented comedienne.

100 Large and beautiful dolls, now on exhibition in T. White's window, will be given away to children attending the Matinee.

PRICES—Matinee, All Children, 15 cents; Adults, 25 cents; 10 cents extra for reserved seats. Evening prices: General admission 25 cents; reserved seats 35 and 50 cents; on sales by Budgee & Co.'s. Matinee at 2; Evening at 8.

23 Main St. SPRING '87

Assortment Complete,

Prices Reasonable,

Goods Absolutely the Best.

Dresses, Outer Garments, etc. You should surely call before buying. Latest Novelties daily arriving.

Banded Passanteries, Braided Passanteries, Beaded and Braided Silk & Woolen Panels, Fronts and Sets, Beaded Headings, Capes and Epaulettes, New Cords, New Braids, Moss, Chenille, Tape and Beaded Trimmings, Buttons and Clasps, Lace Flouncings, etc.

Including many Novelties not to be found elsewhere.

WASH DRESS MATERIALS.

We do not keep Colored Woolen Dress Goods, consequently more time and attention devoted to this line of fabrics enables us to show an unequalled assortment.

Scotch Zephyrs, French and Am. Satteens, Seersuckers, Piques, Cambrics, Prints, Chambray, Muslins, Novelty Goods, Pattern Dresses—New Designs—Buttons and Laces to match.

Headquarters for Hamburgs and Torchons,

And a general assortment of Ladies', Gents', and Children's Furnishings, Staple Dry Goods, etc.

Hosiery and Underwear.

We have just completed arrangements whereby we can have made to order Dress Buttons, of dress material, in flat plain or fancy ball shapes—28 different styles. Samples on hand.

23 Main Street, Bangor.

McCall's Bazar Patterns and the Jouvin Kid Glove

J. E. J. A. P. MAN & CO.

Have Just Received the Most Reliable Stock

For Gentlemen's Wear.

Non- but the Best Made, Reliable Goods. Nothing Damaged.

It Costs Nothing to See their LOW PRICES.

For Choice Spring

COME TO

10.2 MIDDL STREET,

MRS. E. STEVENS.

NICE, LARGE

LOBSTERS,

Bolled every day. People wanting

Nice Fresh Fish

of all kinds, will find it at

BICK FORD'S MARKET.

How that "The Water of our District"

Has contributed to

GENTLE SPRING,

Call at Crossman's Photograph

rooms, light, dry and pleasant and all complete in their arrange ments. I am ready to impress upon you, as by magic your own photo graph is the most reliable thing

Crossman's in the place to call for and photographs. See all kinds of day. Has kept nothing from going pleasant days, now, as being your children

Before the Inter-State Commerce Law commenced to get in its work and harrow up the souls of freight payers, we got in a large invoice of goods among which is a beautiful lot of

Ladies' Cloth-Top Button Boots, and we are going to sell them just as though the elephantine foot of this law was not right on our pocket book—for $8.00 ladies. Now don't go somewhere else and pay $4.00 for no better goods, but husband your pin money, or husband will shut down on your allowance.

E. J. DAVIS & CO., 19 West Market Square

Spring Millinery, SPECIAL SALE

Wednesday, April 20th,

H. H. SHAW'S, 72 Main Street.

OUR CLOTHING PLACES

are unequalled, and by good fortune we have secured one more lot of these beautiful goods. We gladly give our patrons the benefit of this purchase, thus giving them a chance to buy for 10 cents a yard, Laces which are sold everywhere at from 25 cts. to 50 cts. per yard!

Jaco's Stern & Co.

FRANCIS H. CLEBURNE, President.

SPRING ADAMS, Vice-President.

BANKING COMPY,

BANGOR, MAINE.

Transacts a general banking business, legal deposits for funds of towns, counties and Court officers and savings banks; allows interest on deposits, buys and sells bonds and stocks, loans money on real estate and personal security, acts as trustee, guardian and executor. Safety deposit boxes from $2 to $10 per annum.

Open for business from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

KENDUSKEAG NATIONAL BANK,

West Market Square.

Sale Investments.

Bonds in Sums from $100 to $1000

Interest semi-annually, secured by first mortgage on real estate in Maine.

conveyed in trust to Eastern Trust and Banking Co., for benefit of bondholders. Interest, coupons and principal payable in Bangor.

Taxes, insurance and all care of security provided for by Trustee. These bonds taken as collateral security for loans.

EASTERN TRUST AND BANKING CO., BANGOR.

AT LESS

THAN

ANY OTHER PLACE.

THAT

OF

RARE AND BEAUTIFUL COLLECTION

OF

WASH DRESS MATERIALS.

Now On Exhibition

at the Store of

Jaco's Stern & Co.'s,

must be immediately

CONVERTED INTO CASH,

and every rug will be sold

SO LOW

As to make sure of the desired object.

We offer here an opportunity which the people of Bangor have never before had, and we doubt if ever again there will be such a chance, either at auction or at private sale, to duplicate these goods.

We invite an inspection!

Jaco's Stern & Co.

PHOTO ARTIST

HOV IT STANDS.

The Connecticut Mutual stands forth as the foremost representative in the world of old style, conservative life insurance. It engages in no speculative operations, it accepts the confidence of its members as the measure of its trust; and to its honor be it said, that to no one of these trusts has it ever proved recalcitrant.

Readers of the CONN. MUTUAL has been made at three per cent. on all policies issued for five years.

H. N. FAIRBANKS, General Agent,

Bangor.

Interest payable semi-annually, in Bangor, on City property and Farm mortgages.

Guaranteed by the

LOMBARD INVESTMENT COMPANY

who have

$1,000,000 Paid Up Capital and 30 Years' Experience in this business.

Hillbros no longer has a dollar in their hands, so they have left their list of stockholders, and are now National and Savings Bank officers, and we have persons of large wealth and high mercantile standing.

W. S. D. ENNETT, Agent.

PRICES MODERATE.

MARSTON

The Moderate Photographer.

Prices Moderate.

OPENING!

Parlor or Millinery!

MRS. LANE will be pleased to show on MON. DAY, April 25, a new and choice display of Millinery selected in New York and Boston, embracing the Latest Styles and Novelties at 111 Essex Street, Balmace Bldg. Door.

MRS. LANE.

A Choice Stock

OF

NEW DRESS GOODS.

And a good trade for them. Not much more than cost. Don't miss the goods we have.

JOS. P. SNOW, Main Street.

APRIL 21

JAMES WILMOUTH, Building Committee.

E. T. SANBORN, August 20, 1887.

144

INTERESTING AND IMPORTANT

3.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

1.1.171831

INTER-STATE COMMERCE.
Hearing of Various Railroad Interests.
WASHINGTON, April 20. The Interstate Commerce Commission, today, held a public hearing on the proposed bill to regulate interstate commerce. The hearing was held in the Senate Chamber, and was attended by a large number of representatives of the various railroad interests. The bill, which was introduced by Senator John Sherman, provides for the regulation of the rates of interstate commerce by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bill is expected to pass the Senate in the near future.

MAINE NEWS.
RE BLANK IN CHICAGO.
The Health Commissioner of Chicago, today, announced that the health of the city was in a satisfactory condition. The Commissioner, Dr. J. C. Smith, stated that the city was free from any epidemic diseases, and that the health of the population was generally good. The Commissioner also stated that the city was well supplied with food and fuel, and that the public health was well maintained.

FROM WASHINGTON.
The President of the United States, today, received a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. John D. Long. The letter was dated April 19, and was addressed to the President. The letter was signed by Mr. Long, and was dated April 19, 1887. The letter was received by the President at the White House, and was read to him by the Secretary of the Navy.

LOCAL MATTERS.
The Penobscot River Navigation Company, today, announced that the company had received a license from the State of Maine to operate the company's boats on the Penobscot River. The license was granted by the State of Maine, and was dated April 19, 1887. The license was received by the company at the Penobscot River, and was read to the company by the State of Maine.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

THE WEATHER.
The weather in the city of New York, today, was clear and bright. The temperature was in the middle of the 40s, and the wind was light and variable. The weather was generally pleasant, and the sun was shining brightly. The weather was a relief from the cold and foggy weather of the previous days.

THE LATE PRESIDENT ARTHUR.
The late President of the United States, Mr. John A. Arthur, today, was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery. The funeral services were held at the residence of the President, and were attended by a large number of guests. The President was buried in the Mount Vernon Cemetery, and was laid to rest in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

